Dear Mr. Gelb:

Speech Correspondence

I wanted to write personally to thank you for inviting me to serve as a witness in your upcoming Policy Impact Panel on Terrorism. I was pleased and honored to be included.

Unfortunately, as my Chief of Staff, Robert B. Bucknam, has indicated to [redacted] I will not be able to participate. I certainly, however, wish you success in illuminating this important issue.

Speech Correspondence

Dear Director Freeh,

On behalf of the Council on Foreign Relations, I would like to extend an invitation to you to participate as a witness in our upcoming Policy Impact Panel, a televised hearing, in Washington, D.C. on September 9, 13, 23 or October 7. The issue for this hearing will be terrorism, including a look at what the threats are, where they are coming from, and what policies the United States should formulate to deal with these threats.

The Council's Policy Impact Panels have two goals -- to establish the facts of an important issue and to illuminate the options. The Panel's format is similar to a congressional hearing with testimony from prominent speakers representing different viewpoints.

The Council held its first Policy Impact Panel on MFN status for China. It was chaired by former Secretaries of State Henry Kissinger and Cyrus Vance. Recent PIPs have looked at U.S. participation in UN peacekeeping missions, U.S. defense priorities, and U.S.-Korea relations. Participants have included Winston Lord, Lawrence Eagleburger, Lee Hamilton, Robert Gallucci, and Jeane Kirkpatrick.

We believe that this Panel on Terrorism could have a significant impact on the public debate and we hope that you will be able to participate. will contact your office.
